

ANZSOG

ANZSOG First Peoples to All
Peoples Conference 2023

1-3 March 2023, Brisbane

STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENT KIT

Australia &
New Zealand
School Of Government

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF COUNTRY

We acknowledge the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples as Traditional Owners, Custodians and First Nations of Australia, and Māori as tangata whenua and Treaty of Waitangi partners in Aotearoa New Zealand.

ABOUT THE ARTISTS

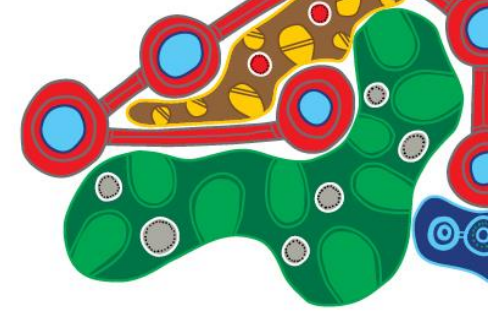

Find out more about our First Nations artwork and Artists here

Artist: Aaron McTaggart
- Ngati Whakaue, Ngati Rangi Wewehi

Artist: Emma Bamblett
- proud Wemba Wemba woman

Wominjeka, Kia ora koutou, Welcome

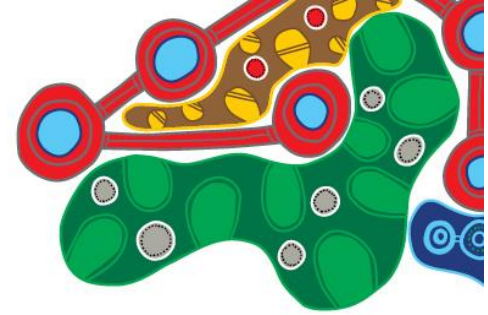

Thank you for your interest and support of The Australia and New Zealand School of Government, and in particular, ANZSOG's 2023 First Nations public administration conference: First Peoples to All Peoples: partnerships, devolution, transformation and sharing. The conference will be held in Brisbane on 1-3 March, 2023, supported by the National Indigenous Australians Agency (NIAA).

First Peoples to All Peoples will examine First Nations policy through the lenses of Australia's National Agreement on Closing the Gap commitments, particularly the four Priority Reforms, as well as the New Zealand Public Service Act 2020, which now clearly sets out the responsibility of the public service, particularly its leadership, in supporting the Crown's relationship with Māori under the Treaty of Waitangi.

For your information we have compiled this kit to assist you with promoting the conference across your networks. We have provided you with a number of tools and digital assets to make the process as easy as possible, including testimonials, social media posts and e-newsletter text.

If you have any questions, or need further information about ANZSOG's 2023 First Nations public administration conference: First Peoples to All Peoples, please don't hesitate to contact Ben Ruse - Media Advisor, ANZSOG | E: b.ruse@anzsog.edu.au

First Nations Conference 2023 Stakeholder Engagement Kit

Communication tools

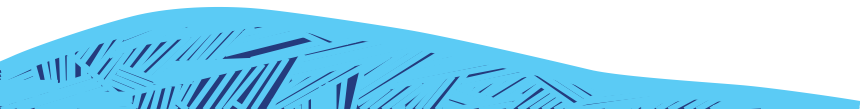

E-Newsletter text

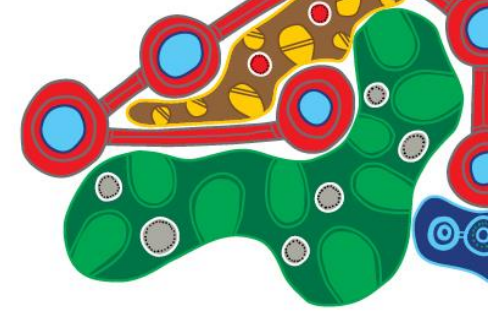

Transformative partnership-based approaches to Indigenous policy that include First Nations knowledges, perspectives and values are delivering benefits to First Nations and the broader public.

The Australia and New Zealand School of Government's 2023 First Nations public administration conference: First Peoples to All Peoples: partnerships, devolution, transformation and sharing to be held in Brisbane on 1-3 March, 2023 and supported by the National Indigenous Australians Agency (NIAA). It will bring together public servants, academics and First Nations organisations to hear a range of First Nations speakers from Australia and Aotearoa New Zealand share their insights and experiences.

The conference will examine First Nations policy through the lenses of Australia's National Agreement on Closing the Gap commitments, particularly the four Priority Reforms, as well as the New Zealand Public Service Act 2020, which now clearly sets out the responsibility of the public service, particularly its leadership, in supporting the Crown's relationship with Māori under the Treaty of Waitangi.

Registrations are now open. For more information on the conference including speakers, pricing and conditions please visit the conference website and sign up for our First Nations e-news for conference updates.

Communication tools

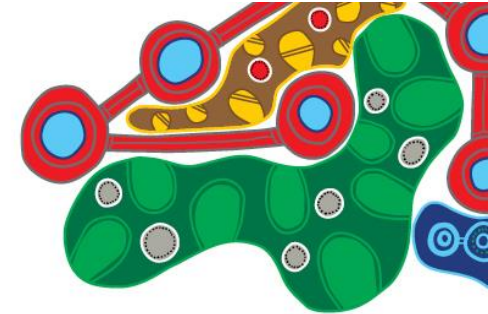

Website text

Ways of working with First Nations peoples are undergoing a transformation and public servants in all areas of public administration must change their thinking and upskill, in order to engage successfully with First Nations peoples and contribute to improved outcomes.

The Australia and New Zealand School of Government's 2023 First Nations public administration conference: First Peoples to All Peoples: partnerships, devolution, transformation and sharing will be held in Brisbane on 1-3 March, 2023 and supported by the National Indigenous Australians Agency (NIAA).

It will bring together public servants, academics and First Nations organisations to hear a range of First Nations speakers from Australia and Aotearoa New Zealand share their insights and experiences of how transformative partnership-based approaches to Indigenous policy that include First Nations knowledges, perspectives and values are delivering benefits to First Nations and the broader public.

Registrations are now open. For more information on pricing and conditions please read our Conference FAQs. The conference program will be regularly updated as we receive confirmation from presenters. Please visit the conference website for more information and sign up for our First Nations e-news for conference updates.

Communication tools

Social media posts

Facebook/LinkedIn:

The fourth Australia and New Zealand School of Government First Nations Public Administration Conference - First Peoples to All Peoples: partnerships, devolution, transformation and sharing will examine First Nations policy through the lenses of Australia's National Agreement on Closing the Gap commitments, particularly the four Priority Reforms, as well as the New Zealand Public Service Act 2020, which now clearly sets out the responsibility of the public service, particularly its leadership, in supporting the Crown's relationship with Māori under the Treaty of Waitangi.

On 1-3 March, 2023 - First Peoples to All Peoples will be held at the Brisbane Convention and Exhibition Centre. This venue is situated in Brisbane's Southbank on the lands of the Turrbal and Jagera peoples.

Visit the conference website for more. #FirstPeoples23

Twitter:

First Peoples to All Peoples: partnerships, devolution, transformation and sharing will examine First Nations policy through the lenses of Australia's National Agreement on Closing the Gap commitments - particularly the four Priority Reforms – as well as the New Zealand Public Service Act 2020, which now clearly sets out the responsibility of the public service, particularly its leadership, in supporting the Crown's relationship with Māori under the Treaty of Waitangi.

Visit the conference website for more. #FirstPeoples23

Communication tools

Social media posts

Facebook/LinkedIn:

First Peoples to All Peoples brings together public servants, academics and First Nations communities, it challenges participants to think beyond the way things have always operated, to consider how First Nations knowledges, local community decision-making and new relationships with government and the public purpose sector can be mobilised to meet the needs of communities.

On 1-3 March, 2023 - First Peoples to All Peoples will be held at the Brisbane Convention and Exhibition Centre. This venue is situated in Brisbane's Southbank on the lands of the Turrbal and Jagera peoples.

Visit the conference website for more. #FirstPeoples23

Twitter:

In this conference, a range of First Nations speakers from Australia and Aotearoa New Zealand will share their insights and experience of how transformative approaches that include First Nations knowledges, perspectives and values, can serve the wider public and First Nations interests.

Visit the conference website for more. #FirstPeoples23

Communication tools - First Nations Conference 2023

Testimonial quotes

"ANZSOG is on a journey to improve the representation of First Peoples' knowledge, wisdom and experiences in the work we do in our core areas of developing public sector leadership through teaching, learning and research. This journey is our contribution to help address the great unfinished business of Australian and New Zealand governments – improving public policy and service outcomes for and with First Peoples." – Professor Ken Smith, ANZSOG Dean and CEO

"We must all take responsibility to imagine a future where Indigenous people thrive and we must do whatever it takes to reach that future." – Professor Marcia Langton AM

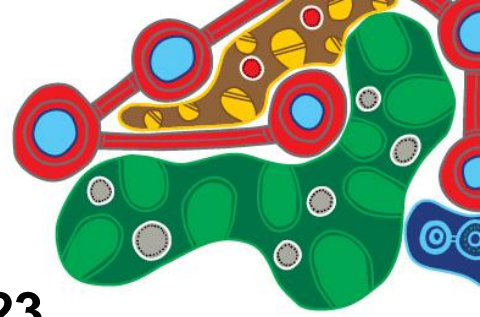

"We need to grow the cohort of indigenous people in the senior rank of the public service to influence thinking and help create much needed change"

"We must all take responsibility to imagine a future where Indigenous people thrive and we must do whatever it takes to reach that future." – Professor Marcia Langton AM

"We can't succeed without an investment in Indigenous policymakers. It's about building capability, finding pathways to recognise success, acknowledging leadership, and building those pathways from the lowest levels of policymaking to the most senior policymakers." – Professor Ian Anderson AO, Deputy Secretary for Indigenous Affairs at the Department of Prime Minister and Cabinet

"Thank you for an amazing opportunity to meet, share, and learn from other First Nations people"

Creative assets - First Nations Conference 2023

All digital tools and files can be accessed here

(if you have issues downloading the assets, please contact Ben Ruse - Media Advisor | E: b.ruse@anzsog.edu.au)

Social media tiles

ANZSOG

2023 FIRST NATIONS PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION CONFERENCE

First Peoples to All Peoples: partnerships, devolution, transformation and sharing

Brisbane, 1-3 March

Find out more

E-newsletter banner

ANZSOG

2023 FIRST NATIONS PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION CONFERENCE

First Peoples to All Peoples: partnerships, devolution, transformation and sharing

Brisbane, 1-3 March

Find out more

Website banner

ANZSOG

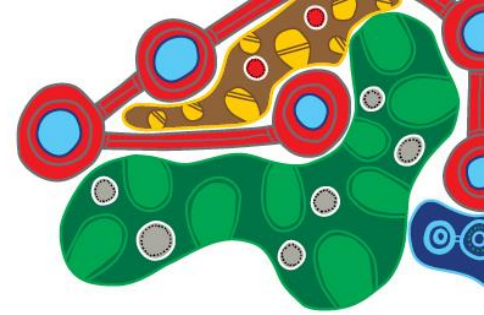

2023 FIRST NATIONS PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION CONFERENCE

First Peoples to All Peoples: partnerships, devolution, transformation and sharing

Brisbane, 1-3 March

Find out more

THANK YOU

ANZSOG.EDU.AU

@ANZSOG

ANZSOG

