An invitation to exhibit

The National Regulators Community of Practice (NRCoP) and Australia and New Zealand School of Government (ANZSOG) is inviting prospective organisations to exhibit at the 2025 National Regulators Community of Practice National Conference \(NRCoP\).

With approximately 600 in person and 200 virtual attendees expected to attend, the hybrid (in-person and virtual) conference offers a valuable opportunity to showcase your organisation and connect with regulators from Australia and Aotearoa New Zealand.

The ANZSOG auspiced 2025 National Regulators Community of Practice Conference - Regulation 2025 to 2050: Disruption, Change and Continuity, will be held on 27-28 August 2025 at the Brisbane Conference and Exhibition Centre in Meanjin, Brisbane.

The NRCoP is an active network of over 7500 public sector regulators from all levels of government, regulatory sectors, professional backgrounds, roles, and levels of seniority, who are keen to learn from and with each other.

Its objectives are to support participants to become more professional and capable regulators and to promote the public value and importance of regulation as a key function of government and thereby, to deliver better citizen outcomes.

The NRCoP is governed by a national Steering Committee of senior regulators and it has local chapters in the Australian Capital Territory, New South Wales, Northern Territory, Queensland, South Australia, Tasmania, Victoria and Western Australia. The NRCoP also welcomes attendance by Aotearoa New Zealand regulators through its partnership with the Ministry for Regulation.

Delegates will hear from international and local speakers from both regulatory practitioner and academic backgrounds as they focus on new regulatory designs and approaches for adapting to disruption and change in an evolving and increasingly complex regulatory environment. The conference program will provide a mix of inspirational speakers and interactive activities, providing delegates with a range of opportunities to hear new ideas, contribute views and network with regulatory peers.

Key themes to be explored, include:

- Building trust and cooperation: is this the answer to delivering better regulatory outcomes in a complex world?
- What does AI hold for the future of regulation?
- First Nations Voices – in, out and around regulatory practice
- Bridging policy and practice: what do regulatory stewardship and better regulation mean in practice?
- When things go wrong: is it regulator “failure”, unreasonable expectations?
- From crisis to confidence: Navigating turbulent times with the global push for regulatory reform to boost efficiency

A dedicated online event platform will provide delegates with easy access to the program; speaker information; livestream sessions; sponsor profiles; exhibitor stand information and more. Delegates will also have opportunities to build connections during catering breaks, a network reception, a conference dinner and exhibitor displays.

Over 600 delegates are expected to attend in person, providing delegates with opportunities to network and make new connections. A virtual attendance option will also maximise accessibility.

Registrations are now open and we anticipate strong interest from employees who are currently employed by an organisation with a corporate membership of the National Regulators Community of Practice as well as non-members from the public, private or other sectors.
